

Executive Advisory Services

Facilitate Stronger Communication, Align Business Priorities and Enhance Productivity Between Board Members, Executives and Security Leadership

Regulators and stakeholders have made their expectations clear: take action to proactively monitor and mitigate cybersecurity risk, or face fines and legal intervention.

Securing the Enterprise Top to Bottom

Today, securing the enterprise is not just a role for Chief Information Security Officers (CISOs), but a responsibility that flows across the organization – from the Board and Executive team to the frontline workforce.

As security becomes a business-critical issue in addition to an IT challenge, the role of an organization's security leader is crossing traditional boundaries between day-to-day security operations and evaluating and implementing transformational business change. As a result, Security and Executive leadership are challenged to create, communicate and share responsibility for cybersecurity strategy and be accountable for aligning business objectives with cybersecurity risk.

How Secureworks Helps

Our Executive Advisory service is designed to facilitate productivity and alignment between Board Members, Executives and Cybersecurity leaders. We understand that every organization is unique and so are the skillsets needed to ensure success at this level. Our consultants/principals bring to bear the following career expertise:

- Business: Board Members, Business Owners, Risk Officers, Audit Committee Members, Governance Advisors
- Security: CISOs, Chapter Founders, Industry Thought Leaders, Security Authors

Their experience is enhanced by collective knowledge gleaned from thousands of client engagements as well as real-time threat intelligence from The Secureworks Counter Threat Platform™ (CTP). This holistic knowledge empowers our consultants to provide you with a clear strategy to implement, measure and communicate a mature cybersecurity program. More than just a list of questions and subsequent

Client Benefits

- Greater efficacy of strategic investments, aligned to business risks
- Improved alignment and engagement from Board, Executives, Internal Audit and Human Resources leaders
- Continuously enhanced prevention, detection and response capabilities through a mature cybersecurity program

Solution Features

- Senior Consultants with business leadership and security expertise
- Subscription based strategic advisory service focused on Chief Information Security Officer duties: Formal planning, security program prioritization, document or process peer review
- Flexible, tailored and scalable approach with deliverables based on organization's need
- Risk managed based on threat prioritization recommendations, our experts help you identify and develop the right core competencies necessary for a mature, robust security program in your company's unique environment and relative to your most likely threats. As a result, you are able to enhance competences to predict the adversary's capabilities and tactics; defend where possible; detect what gets through; and respond quickly.

Filling Strategic Gaps

The Executive Advisory service is designed to take an alternative approach to traditional staff augmentation or CISO-in-a-box. Instead, the service focuses on delivering the strategic components that a CISO would normally deliver, but from a collective pool of former CISOs that utilize Secureworks knowledge sharing and the latest threat intelligence.

Our aim is to help clients with their greatest challenges around Strategic Prioritization and Planning, Merger & Acquisition, Alignment of Security and Business Strategy, Cyber Protection of Executives, Security Program Maturity and Development, as well as Executive and Board Level Briefing preparation guidance.
